Dear Customers,

It's that time of year to think about holiday gift making and visiting with family and friends. The economy has a starring role this season and as we all pay close attention to our pocket books McMow is offering several cost saving options to help the die hard stained glass enthusiast keep on being productive.

It only makes sense to make gifts if they cost less than they do to purchase them. So register right away for a 15% discount and use it any time between November 1st and December 31st to offset the price of your gift making. If you have not received your discount postcard, just mention it to Lynne when you come in and she will take care of you. You must come in to the store to register.

In addition to the discount card, any time you buy a gift certificate for a class from November 1st through December 31st you will receive a $10 coupon. You can pass the coupon on to the lucky person you purchased the gift for or keep it for yourself to use during the year. WE won't tell. The $10 coupon is good for the entire year from the date of purchase. This is a great way to show your love for your special friends and relatives and it is also a productive way to spend time with them creating new projects.

We are now adding to the curriculum a once popular intermediate class. We've had so many requests to bring this back that you will now see it on the calendar. For simple inexpensive gift ideas we have a candle holder class, the popular scrap glass picture frame class and the pressed flower in glass class all coming up in November. These classes are "make it and take it" classes. You will learn how to make the piece and bring it home the same day. Space is limited so please call to reserve your spot. For details on these classes or any others listed in this newsletter please call Lynne at (561)585-9011 ext. 100.

Thank you for your continued loyalty and business,

Phil and Shanon Materio
